

Argos will show your company's true cash position every day... accurately and automatically.

But don't just take our word for it

"The automatic bank statement downloading is very time efficient and eliminates any processing errors. A mundane morning's work of manual account coding now takes just 5 minutes!"

Cross referencing...

Another unique Argos key benefit.

Your finance business is cash driven, so the efficient processing of that cash is of paramount importance. That's why the Argos Cashbook System goes further by providing a unique Cross Reference feature which offers significant time savings. And it's completely automatic and totally accurate.

- Any repeating transaction can be cross-referenced (typically automatic payments to repay loan instalments, but also any other receipts or payments of a recurring nature).
- The first time a new transaction appears on the download screen simply cross reference it to the relevant account. Thereafter, as long as the amount and reference details remain unchanged, the system will automatically post that transaction to the correct account.

If 80% of your monthly transactions are automatic payments, deal with them once and once only...a massive saving in administrative time!
